

The Children's Center for Communication Beverly School for the Deaf

ANNUAL FUND 2023

STEAM

SCIENCE, TECHNOLOGY,
ENGINEERING, ART AND MATH

Our goal at CCCBSD is to ensure that all students have the best resources to succeed as individuals. Support from donors allows the school to maintain a level of excellence needed to best support each student individually and within their classes. STEAM classes are just one example of the many opportunities available for our students.

The five tenets of STEAM encompass opportunities for our students to challenge themselves, build confidence, make connections between the classroom and the world outside of school and to increase social and emotional learning.

At CCCBSD, we review the goals of our STEAM Lab each week: Safe Hands Safe Body, Try New Things, Experiment and Ask Questions, Activate our Imagination and Make Marvelous Models to Share. We have introduced elements of literacy to encourage our students to truly grasp the element(s) being used in our challenges. Topics like negation, setting goals, predictions, cause and effect, sequencing and sometimes setting an activity up for failure provide an opportunity for critical thinking, teamwork, and patience! Each element of STEAM is connected to not only an academic or scientific goal, but a social and emotional learning element as well. We encourage teamwork, positive reinforcement and the opportunity to persevere and engage.

The STEAM Lab is a safe space in which every student has the opportunity to learn. Their roles as scientists and engineers show up by their commitment to wear their aprons, safety glasses and to use their tools appropriately. We encourage our students to expand their curiosity, find empowerment in what they are doing and gain confidence and knowledge.
